Re: Denying Daytime Running Lights (DRL)

I think the DRL's brightness should remain the same.

I just wish all manufacturers were required to have them on their vehicles. Cars, vans, SUV pickup, everything vehicle!

The new proposal would parallel European standards. Why can't we have our own standards?

How many accidents, injuries & deaths have the DRL's prevented so far?

Keep the standard the way they are.

If Europe wants to buy our cars they take our standards.

Let's stop bowing down to foreign countries.

Thank you.
