Ms or Mr,

DOCKET No. 98-4124-40

I, too believe the DRLs are way too bright even in the day time and should be dimmed down to a useable level not blinding.

Also I feel the lights on pickup trucks and other trucks should be repositioned lower so that those light also don't blind people at night. These light are sitting so high on the vehicle that on low beam the lights are like high beam on normal cars and there are just too many trucks on the road to let this keep going on.

Sincerely
Maynard E. Keller
