

Airline seats should face toward the rear of aircraft for better impact survival.