

I am writing in response to docket number: FAA-2002-13378 - "Reports by Carriers on Incidents Involving Animals During Air Transport". I own 2 labradors and are held back by traveling with them because of my fear of how they would be handled by the airlines. Currently, there are no means by which to evaluate the airlines' records. Many thanks to the FAA for issuing a proposed rule to implement this requirement. Please finalize this rule quickly, and to include a broad definition of "animal". Thank you for the consideration.
