

In regard to the need to access age sensitive components, I think it is necessary to determine a timetable for the wire and cable bundles to be inspected/replaced. 10,000 hours is all the military wire specifications approved by the FAA are tested for, whereas the airplanes are flying 100,000 hours. We need to test and inspect these wires.