

we live in a train town -- love the trains and HATE the horns (especially between the hours of 10pm and 8am -- this is the year 2000 and there ought to be a way to communicate the pending arrival of a train -- who are these people on the tracks that don't know it's dangerous to be there? we all know the answer to that. suppose civil or criminal charges be issued to those in urban settings using the train tracks as their own right of way. THERE IS NO GOOD REASON FOR TRAIN HORNS IN AN URBAN SETTING SUCH AS OURS -- people with any brains or sense do not cross the freeway in our area and the same should apply to people on the train tracks... they should simply not be there. if BN or any of the others don't want to mow people down then more fences and bridges ought to be constructed so that people on the tracks would be considered law breakers instead of victims. people NEED TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THEMSELVES.
