

It is extremely refreshing to see a government agency working to make certain its customers understand what it is doing to or for them by speaking in "plain language." I hope your next stop is the FAS's/AIM's. We tell ground school students to keep it by their bedside for nights they can't sleep.