

It is imperative that the conflicting role of the FAA as regulator & promoter of aviation be removed. You perform poorly in the abatement of noise and must turn this responsibility over to the EPA which is their function. On the other hand local communities must be able to control development at local airports. Otherwise irreparable and permanent damage to the environment will result and the taxpayer's bill for health remediation and environmental repair will dwarf whatever $ benefits are obtained for the airline industry.