

Two of my friends and co-workers lost their husband and brother, when Brett Stone experienced heart failure on a Frontier flight in July. This flight was not carrying an on board AED. This tragedy has touched many of us. As a result, I absolutely agree with President Clinton and the FAA that AEDs should become mandatory on commercial flights.