

It sounds to me like every airplane should have an AED. It just makes sense. Can you tell me what the costs and burdens are of having one of these on board an aircraft versus the benefits it can provide?
Chad