

Goodyear's Airship Operations supports all initiatives to improve the safe operation of aircraft and the people operating them. When considering issues for this proposed regulation, please consider and make provisions for aircraft - especially airships - which cover news and sporting events at the request of the international and national media (TV networks, etc.), to be able to continue safely covering these events. While covering these events, our pilots and crew are also concerned over the increasing levels of air traffic. Goodyear Airship Operations supports improvements in managing this air traffic, provided it does not impede the safe operation of aircraft specifically on site to provide aerial coverage of the event for the media and audience. Thank you for your time and consideration. Please contact me if you need any further information or comment. Scott C. Baughman, Manager, Goodyear North American Airship Operations
