

I am strongly against teen drivers, being allowed to drive the big rigs. In the US, we have significant problems already, with teenage driving and accidents and fatalities. Instead of trying to put more teenagers on the streets, we need to remove them from the roads until they are a little more mature. Allowing them to drive these huge trucks, will only cause more problems, and more accidents (especially in Atlanta, where there are enough tractor trailer accidents every day).