

I am completely against lowering the age of truck drivers to 18 yrs old. 18 yr olds are generally not responsible or experienced enough to appreciate the dangerousness of safely operating a big rig. It takes skill, concentration, and a true appreciation for the safety of others to properly drive a truck, and a disproportionate amount of young people do not possess these qualities.