There is no way an 18 year old should be behind the wheel of a 50,000(+) pound truck. Has our country gone totally crazy? It takes years to really be able to drive for yourself and the next person and NOW our United States government is recruiting 18 year olds to slaughter the highways. My father was an over the road truck for Roadway Trucking and I would not even dare mention to him such a thoughtless idea. Please rethink this idea with some thought to the fellow mature driving population.
