

The FAA will also need to add a special section to this document, perhaps as an addition to the CFR to deal with the special case of Grand Teton National Park, which is the only national park that has a public airport within its boundaries.

How do you tell a scenic flight it has to maintain 5000 feet AGL over the park if Delta, American and United are also coming in lower than that over the same land?