

As an insulin-dependent diabetic who has been taking insulin for 22 years, I object to the limitation on driving commercial vehicles. I urge the Department of Transportation to replace the blanket ban on individuals who use insulin and replace it with a reasonable system of individual evaluation.

In addition, I urge the Department to eliminate the three-year rule so that the new regulation does not produce a "Catch-22" and continue to restrict the employment opportunities of individuals using insulin.