

I agree that the light from HID headlights seems blinding, even though the intensity of such lamps does not exceed federal standards.

I agree that "fog lamps" produce troublesome glare and are VERY often used unnecessarily on clear nights.

I find the higher-mounted headlights used on SUVs, pickup trucks and vans to be very glaring.