

Those high intensity headlights are dangerous. When cars approaching me have those on my eyes react as though I have been blinded by a flash bulb and I can't see for moments after the car has passed. I find them highly dangerous!