

Driving today with headlight glare is distracting, and could be dangerous depending on the age, ability, and situation.