

The entry & maintenance costs of the proposed plan don't seem to be worth it. Adding firearms or non-lethal weapons to commercial flights open airlines to liabilities previously unheard of. When it comes to weapons on flights, I view it as an all-or-nothing scenario. Either everyone can carry a weapon, being responsible for their own personal safety. Or no one can carry weapons.