

I feel that commercial flight crews should be allowed to voluntarily carry a small firearm after they have had proper training. I for one would feel much safer knowing that the pilot and/or first officer were armed. a .25 or .380 would be plenty of firepower to disable an attacker without causing fatal injuries if used properly.