

After 9-11 it only makes very good sense to arm the pilots with firearms and flight crews with mace and/or stun guns. I do not think that non airline emergency personnel should be allowed to provide emergency services until the federal government passes a "Good Samaritan" law that would makes these individuals immune from personal liability.