

The following is a synopsis regarding the new security program, which applies to aviation companies with aircraft at or above 12,500 pounds. While I am most willing to activate this program, within PrivatAir, I am concerned at the lack of substance needed for implentating and uniformly directing this all encompassing program. I have identified ten primary points for consideration, as seen through my lens, for my company.