

The Twelve-Five security program will impose a significant financial impact on our operation while doing nothing to improve security. In small operations such as ours, the flight crew is in direct contact with the passengers and ground crew. A close vigilance is already required to be maintained by the crew. Beyond the fingerprint based background checks, I see nothing in the new bill that would be a benefit to the travelling public.