

This change in regulations clearly permits one very untested government body that has shown no regard for our constitutional rights to date to point a finger at anyone and cause their life to be impacted by denial of income with no evidence and no public proceeding wherein the burden of proof is on the government to make a case that a jury of ones peers find reasonable beyond any reasonable doubt, a right provided by our constitution.

This procedure will severely hurt innocent people and have no effect on evil people. Evil people will not stop an activity just because someone has sent them a letter saying that their airman's certificate has been suspended. Only good law abiding people would stop.

Where are the same procedures for truck drivers and car drivers they can be used in much the same way and in fact have been used more than aircraft?

Bad law makes lawbreakers out of good people and that encourages them to break other laws that we would prefer that they not. This regulation should be stopped before it becomes a very expensive legal mess that must be dealt with by the Federal Courts, in the end it will weaken both the FAA and the TSA.
