

I hope that the farm plates are renewed again because the farm and ranch community really needs to have the exemptions that we do. The trucks I run with farm plates are primarily run on dirt roads with the occasional trip into the local grain elevator. If you look at the accidents occurring on the road there are very few involving vehicles with farm plates. I do not see any reason to get rid of something that has been working very well for the people.