

Would FAA consider online electronic training instead of book or seminar training?