

To Whom It May Concern:

In addition to the previous comments submitted by the Dangerous Goods Council© (DGC) we would like to clarify a few points and ask a couple of questions:

- 1) DGC is advocating the use of an “electronic instructor” instead of (Computer Based Training) CBT training. CBT is generally used as a generic term for the distribution of a Compact Disk (CD) with the training on the disk. The student then takes the training without the help of an instructor.
- 2) Interactive classrooms with the “electronic instructor” would be much more cost effective since money would not be spent on hotel rooms, meals, cars, etc....
- 3) Is IATA certification OK for General Awareness training as seen by the FAA?

Sincerely,

Neil Wroblewski & Mario Gordon
Dangerous Goods Council
717.764.6606