

This interpretation is ridiculous. Restricting all modifications to exterior vehicular lighting/reflex is over compensating. Yes, this proposal would help eliminate APC and other appearance oriented companies from selling their unsafe products, but what about the good products? Believe it or not but there are performance lighting geeks out there, and I am one of them.