

I have been involved in new driver training for just over three years now, and have always wondered how a new driver could be qualified to operate LCV's by simply taking a written test and being given an endorsement on their CDL. This is my opinion on all endorsements.

It should be mandatory to be trained and tested on the type of equipment that any driver operates.

In the last three years I have seen some student drivers barely qualify for their CDL, but passed the written tests and have their endorsement.

We need a graduated license including any endorsements. Proper training should be mandatory.

Thank You
