

The proposed rule change is a bad idea for aviation and charities. With less and less government funding, charities have had to be proactive and inventive in their own fund raising in order to provide assistance to those in need and to their respective communities. The proposed rule change does nothing to enhance the perceived safety problem because it doesn't exist. Take away their government funding and take away their fund raising abilities and what do you have left? Who will take up the slack? What or who have you protected? The proposed is a government solution to a non-existent problem.
