

It is not reasonable for the FAA/airlines to overly burden so as to restrict the mobility of Americans with Disabilities such as we who have a requirement for supplemental oxygen. The equipment is not dangerous or obstructive.

I have air traveled for thirty years as a salesman adding much to the airlines coffers. Now I can't get a reasonable accomodation for my needs.