

I am in favor of granting this exemption to allow the import of these motorcycles which provide control of the rear brake by the control on the left handlebar instead of the right foot. I have a scooter set up this way, and I do not believe this creates any sort of safety concern. Thank you.