

I do not agree with the federal government's plan to remove placards for identifying chemicals from rail cars. I feel that it puts first responders at risk.