

tires are never inconsequential. lives depend on them. how this agency can write that word in connection with tires is horrendous. this kind of happening with tires is happening far too frequently. could it be that tire manufacturers knows that anything goes with their friends at us dot? i think you are allowing mfrs to become too careless and negligent, thereby imperiling drivers. This must be stopped. I suggest imposing fines on these companies of $1,000,000 for this latest stupidity.
